ANGLO FRENCH CLASH EXPECTED AT PARIS (Continued from Page One)

doctrines taught by Lenin than her desire to separate Germany from Bolshevik Russia. She firmly believes that if Russia and Germany come in direct contact, without control by a pro-French sanitary cord of Poland and Roumania, it will be impossible to force Germany to settle the reparation account. She fears that Germany either will undergo a process of Bolshevization, become bankrupt, worse still, ally herself with Russia and resist the reparation claims. France also is providing for the day when Germany recovers her strength. France will then be unable to rely on Russia. Therefore she wants a strong Poland capable of holding part of the German force in the East should Germany again desire to attack France.

It is also generally assumed that the defeat of Bolshevik Russia will bring about better conditions in the world. Few realize any other possibility than that on the ashes of Bolshevism there may arise some new, fearful apparitions which will strike nearer home than Bolshevism in Russia.

DUBLIN EDITORS RELEASED; BELIEVED STEP TO PEACE

Dublin, Jan. 7.—Martin Fitzgerald, one time racing partner of Richard Croker and Hamilton Edwards, proprietors of the Freeman's Journal, and Patrick Hooper, editor of that newspaper, were unconditionally released from Mount Joy prison here last night on "medical grounds." This is regarded here as the most hopeful sign of conciliation seen in Ireland in weeks. It has been an open secret that while Downing street wanted these newspaper men released from prison, Dublin castle insisted on certain conditions, with which they refused to comply.

Despite the vigorous campaign their newspaper carried on against Dublin castle "atrocities," they were convicted only on technical grounds, connected with two articles they published, one of them being a mere paragraph.
